Elk Lake Miss Wins Queen Title of Annual Sidney Day

Crowned on Wednesday

Miss Yateve Swift, popular student at North Saanich high school and daughter of a well-known Elk Lake family, won the annual queen contest in connection with Sidney Day on Wednesday, July 18.

In a ballot count by officials of the annual "carnival" during the week-end, Miss Swift was found to have secured the most votes and she was immediately proclaimed the winner.

To Be Crowned

Queen-elect Yateve will be crowned at the War Memorial Park grounds, Beacon Avenue, early Wednesday afternoon by Miss Linda Taylor, of Sidney, who has reigned for the past year.

Misses Shirley Bath, of McTavish Road, and Sylvia Erb, of Saanichton, next leading contestants in the contest, won the enviable ranks of princesses. They will assume their new roles at the time of the crowning of the queen.

Other Contestants

Other young ladies who took part in the competition and assisted materially in this way in the staging of Sidney Day included: Misses Yvonne Bradley, Gail Smith, Marjorie McCreesh, Doreen Gordon, Thelma Jahn and Nancy Shillito.

MISS YATEVE SWIFT

The Sidney Day committee is exceedingly grateful to all the girls who consented to enter the contest.

Under the direction of President J. Taylor, the Sidney Day show was scheduled for Wednesday afternoon, winding up with a gay dance in the airport recreation hall in the evening.

SOCIAL CREDIT GROUPS ARE FORMED AT TWO CENTRES ON SALT SPRING ISLAND

A number of people favoring Social Credit gathered at the Salt Spring Island residence of F. H. Newnam, Long Harbor, recently, the business being to form Group No. 3 of Nanaimo and Gulf Islands Constituency.

E. J. Brewster was present from Nanaimo and gave a very interesting and instructive address, stressing the point that forming of groups was most necessary if Social Credit was to become a force in the province. Officers were elected pro tem, and it was arranged to conduct a campaign to have each and every person on the Island interviewed.

Refreshments were served by the ladies and the meeting adjourned.

At Fulford

A very well attended meeting of the newly formed Social Credit group was held at Tarnbrae, the Fulford home of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Dickens, on Friday, July 11.

Before the meeting proper, the gathering, which included several newcomers seeking information on the aims and objects of the new party, was addressed by the president, A. D. Dane, who gave a very instructive talk which was well received by all present. Emphasis was placed on the intent of the party to return to the truly democratic way of government, "of the people, by the people and for the people" as opposed to the old line parties' method of government by a handful of ministers and by Order-in-Council.

The questions addressed to the president indicated a keen interest in matters political and as a result of the explanations of the aims and objects of the party four new members decided to join the group, which is sufficiently strong to nominate two delegates to any convention which may be called.

At the conclusion of the meeting, refreshments were served by the secretary, Mrs. H. B. Dickens, with the welcome assistance of Mrs. W. W. Hippisley. A further meeting was arranged for July 25 and this too will be held at Tarnbrae.

FIRE RAVAGES HOME OF AGED SIDNEY MAN

Modest residence of Nick Brown, well-known bachelor resident of Sidney, is a blackened ruin following a flash fire which swept the structure at 4 o'clock last Saturday morning. Mr. Brown, who lived alone in the small home, was uninjured by the blaze.

The aged man is in failing health and had only recently been discharged from Rest Haven hospital following treatment. He is now again a patient in the hospital.

The fire loss, placed by Fire Chief G. A. Gardner at more than $1,000, was one of the most serious residential fires in recent years. The property is located at the corner of Marine and Queens Ave.

A Losing Battle

A passerby reported the fire about 4.30 a.m. and members of the Sidney Volunteer Fire Brigade responded immediately. At the time of the alarm being sounded, however, the flames had completely engulfed the building, and firemen were unable to save it. The fire shot skyward at least 50 feet. Had there been a wind, loss might have been more extensive.

Trees in Mr. Brown's garden were severely scorched by the heat of the blaze.

Cause of the fire has not been disclosed. Mr. Brown used a kerosene lamp for night lighting.

The aged man spent most of his life as a mining prospector in British Columbia.

First Meeting Of Old Friends For 40 Years

Old friends met in Central Saanich last week for the first time in 40 years.

In London, England, many years ago Mrs. Percy Thorp, of Keating, and Miss Maude Bennett, now of Paris, Ont., were school mates. They became fast friends. When Mr. and Mrs. Thorp were married in London 40 years ago, Miss Bennett attended the ceremony. It was the last time the ladies met.

Miss Bennett came to Canada first, prior to the First Great War. She served as a bookkeeper in Paris, Ont., for many years and recently retired.

Mr. and Mrs. Thorp came to Canada in 1914, residing for many years in northern Alberta. They moved to the Saanich Peninsula several years ago.

Long Correspondence

Miss Bennett and Mrs. Thorp corresponded regularly every month for the past 40 years. On the retirement of the former, it was agreed that she should come west to Vancouver Island for a reunion.

Miss Bennett arrived last week. She is enjoying her visit very much and is much impressed with the scenery and climate of Vancouver Island.

ON HOLIDAY

W. R. Cannon, North Saanich building inspector, is enjoying his annual holiday. The Sidney office is closed during the inspector's absence.

WAS INTOXICATED

Thomas James, Patricia Bay Indian, was fined $10 and costs in Sidney police court on conviction of being intoxicated. The charge was laid by the R.C.M.P.

NEW HIGHWAY IS EXTENDED

Contour of the new section of the Airport Highway, between Keating and Sidney, has now taken shape.

The highway, which will run through the old C.N.R. right-of-way, has been levelled off in most parts and traffic has already used it in its various sections at the northern end.

The project is being undertaken by Dawson Wade, of Vancouver.

No announcement has yet been made by the provincial government regarding the letting of a contract for the surfacing of this section. The plan called for its completion this year.

Crews are already working on the opening of the third section of the highway, which follows Douglas St. from Quadra St. to Victoria city.

The new highway will have a number of curves throughout its length, but the irregularity that characterized the old East Saanich Road has been eliminated.

To Widen Road

The junction of the new highway with the East Saanich Road at the airport describes a curve as it enters the latter highway north of the greenhouses at Reay's Creek. Beyond this point the East Saanich Road will be widened as far as the airport.

That portion of Lochside Drive north of McTavish Road has not yet been widened. The section of road from the new highway to Sidney is scheduled to be improved by the provincial government department of works. This will facilitate the free flow of traffic into Sidney from the Airport Highway. Traffic will enter the main section of Sidney by way of Lochside Drive and Fifth St.

PUBLIC HEALTH NURSE ENJOYING HOLIDAY

Mrs. E. Benson, North Saanich public health nurse, is enjoying her annual holiday. She will be away from duty for three weeks and will resume her nursing work in the Sidney office on August 4.

FROM PRINCE ALBERT

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Thorpe and family, of Prince Albert, Sask., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Taylor.

Islands M.L.A.-Elect Sends Greetings To Constituents

Dr. L. Giovando of Nanaimo, M.L.A.-elect for Nanaimo and the Islands constituency, has forwarded to The Review a statement for his island constituents.

The Review is happy to print Dr. Giovando's message as follows:

"This is addressed to all my friends on the Island part of the Nanaimo riding. It is addressed to those who voted for me June 12 and to those who gave me their alternative vote, for without the latter I would not have won.

"To these voters I wish to express my very sincere thanks for their support, and to assure them that their confidence in me will not be misplaced. Everything I said I would try to do for the constituency I shall endeavor to carry out; but the constitution of the Legislature is not likely to make possible much actual work in the coming session.

"At the moment of writing result of the election is still undecided. We do not know if the nominal government will be a C.C.F. favored one or a Social Credit production.

Whichever it is it makes it almost certain that another appeal to the electorate will have to be made—probably next year. It is a very unsatisfactory situation, but one, over which no one has any control.

"As M.L.A. for Nanaimo and the Islands it will be my duty to represent not only those who voted for me but everyone within their boundaries; this I shall endeavor to do to the best of my ability.

"I promised you during the campaign that I would not forget to visit the Islands. This I still mean to do. But it would help me in my work if electors anywhere in the far scattered ridings would write me and let me know of any problems as they come up, so that I may be familiar with them and be able to do what I can for them at Victoria.

"You have honored me by electing me your representative. May I say that I shall look upon it as a sacred trust. I am not a politician, and never will be, but I hope I shall always remain the friend of everyone in the Nanaimo-Islands riding, and shall merit and maintain your confidence."

SHELTERS ARE REMOVED AT AIRPORT

No tenders have yet been let by the department of transport for drainage work on the Patricia Bay Airport. The tenders were invited recently for the project. Closing date was June 10. The work remains to be done.

During the past week a number of revetments have been removed from the airport. These revetments were constructed during the recent war as a protection for personnel engaged in maintenance of the dispersed aircraft in the event of enemy action.

Successor to K. J. Robinson, lately manager of the airport, has not yet been announced by the department. Ken Thomson is serving as acting manager.

Mr. Robinson left recently to take charge of the airport at Winnipeg.

Island Fire Stamped Out

At Galiano

A bush fire, some two miles up the North End Road on Galiano Island has been brought under control.

The fire was first discovered by M. Lloyd-Walters as he was returning home from the north end at about 8 p.m. on Thursday.

It was burning along the roadside and had begun to climb up the side of a steep ridge. Mr. Lloyd-Walters, at once gave the alarm and in short order, all available men with the aid of three bulldozers were at work to confine the blaze to the one area.

On Friday morning a gang of men arrived with the fire wardens from Ganges, making it possible for the local men to get some rest.

Mr. Lloyd-Walters, who is the Galiano fire warden, spoke very highly of the group of women who spent the first night of the fire on duty supplying the fire fighters with coffee and sandwiches.

The fire occurred on the property of the Powell River Company and it is thought to have been started by a carelessly disposed cigarette.

At no time was any human habitation in danger. The blaze was visible for many miles.

FINE SALMON ARE CAUGHT IN PAST WEEK

Some fine catches have been reported by North Saanich anglers during the past week.

E. A. Rathbone, of Deep Cove, fishing with W. E. Poupore, of Sidney, caught a handsome 14-pound salmon and weighed it in at Holder's boat house.

Les Thornley, of Downey Road, fishing from Brentwood on Sunday, boated a 12-pound salmon.

Mrs. P. B. Smith, of Lochside Drive, fishing in the vicinity of James Island, caught an eight-pounder.

The salmon run in Peninsula waters is improving daily, according to reports.

R. S. White To Reside In Chilliwack

R. S. White, who for the past seven years has operated a watchmaker's business in Sidney at the corner of Second and Beacon, is leaving shortly for Chilliwack.

Mr. White stated that if a man remains in one place for more than seven years he becomes a fixture. "I'm going to work in the open air for a time," he explained.

Mr. White has resided for a number of years on Bowerbank Road with his wife and two children.

While in Sidney Mr. White has been an enthusiastic member of the flying club at Patricia Bay airport and has logged many solo flying hours.

The store formerly operated by the watchmaker has been taken over by Rose's Ltd., Victoria jewelers.

Leisure Islands Laughter

Full Length Novel by the Late F. W. Marsh

Chapter XI.

FORTY WINKS

Over their cups of tea and winter fires these Galiano neighbors of Mrs. Patience enjoy laughing as much as eating. They know each other's whims. One of these provided a spurious tale about the surreptitious 40 winks in which Mrs. Patience sometimes indulges when congenial friends are around her.

On a night following much food and several cups of tea, she put the kettle back on the fire. She was drowsy and so were her guests. They had reached that point of inertia on a fall evening when nobody wants to move; when hosts think longingly of bed and guests cling to the hope of a voice loud enough to awaken them as in a dream, her eyes drooping, her head nodding politely when it vaguely seemed to her that something required comment. She did not appear to notice the kettle which now boiled and bubbled provocatively.

"Look," said one of the guests in a voice loud enough to awaken Mrs. Patience. "The kettle's boiling!"

Mrs. Patience's head straightened. She blinked at the kettle. There was a lush of mouth-watering expectancy among the guests as she leaned forward to lift the kettle from the fire.

"That's splendid," she said. "It's chilly tonight. I think I'll fill my hot-water bottle and take it to bed with me."

THE BATH TUB
Mrs. Patience's round tub placed close to the kitchen stove provided me—except on one occasion—with some of the most luxurious baths it has ever been my luck to enjoy. The trouble with ordinary bathtubs is that when they are warm they are stuffy. Mrs. Patience's kitchen, on the contrary, was always

Always Spring In Saanich

Toronto Magazine Carries Racy Story on Peninsula

July 5 issue of a well known weekly Toronto magazine, "Saturday Night" carries a racy story from the pen of J. K. Nesbitt, Victoria writer, entitled "Always Spring in Saanich." The article should turn the thoughts of many Canadians to the Saanich Peninsula. It's well worth reading.

Some months ago Mr. Nesbitt carried a story in the same reputable publication on Vancouver Island. He invited the editorial opinion of The Review on the article. This newspaper objected to Mr. Nesbitt's report because there was no mention of the Saanich Peninsula. The Victorian accepted the criticism in good part and promised to rectify it in an early issue of "Saturday Night." He has been as good as his word.

Mr. Nesbitt dealt at considerable length on the history of the Peninsula. Its population, he maintains, is now close to 35,000 "and it's growing all the time as the flood of immigration from other parts of Canada goes on."

Interesting Article

The story says in part:

"Saanich has a Provincial Park, a lovely sylvan area of 98 acres, set aside by the Provincial Government for the recreation and enjoyment of the public. There's a small mountain in the park, and from the top a splendid view of sea waters, islands and distant snow-capped peaks. It's called John Dean Park, after the man who gave it to the government. John Dean was a crotchety old bachelor with a big heart—a man who, years before he died, had this carved on his tombstone: 'It's a rotten world, artful politicians are its bane. Its saving grace is the wonder of the sky and the laughter of little children.'"

"Saanich has a winery and what is believed Canada's largest loganberry farm—80 acres. The loganberries are turned into wine."

"The wondrous Butchart gardens are in Saanich. Once they were a great hole in the earth, tons of rock having been pounced out to make a farm for the firm of R. P. Butchart who came, a poor man, from his native Ontario, and died a millionaire. The ugliness of the scarred earth, and the fact that her husband was creating such ugliness, worried Mrs. Butchart. She started planting flowers in the hideousness. Before she quite realized what she was up to, she was fashioning one of the showplaces of North America. "Greater Victoria's airport is in Saanich—at Patricia Bay, 17 miles from the city. A big R.C.A.F. station was at Pat Bay—as it's locally called—during the war. It trained thousands of airmen from Great Britain, Australia and New Zealand. An R.C.A.F. marine section is still based there.

"Saanich is home of a Federal Government experimental farm and pathological laboratory, J. J. Woods, the farm's superintendent, says: 'We're always trying to find some thing to help the farmers.' This farm, sloping to the sea, is 120 acres of neatness and trimness, a showplace. Often picnics are held under the trees. It's a "must" on the program of many visitors. The pathological laboratory, which studies plant diseases, has eight employees

Two Children Are Christened

Rev. Roy Melville officiated at a double christening service in St. Andrew's church at three o'clock on Sunday afternoon when the two younger children of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Gordon, of Lochside Drive, received the names of Roberta Gail and Robert Arthur.

God-parents of the children are Miss Molly Badger, of Bowmanville, Ont., Roy Aikenhead, of Saskatoon, and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Gordon, of Penticton.

The ceremony was followed by a luncheon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon.

During May, Canada imported almost 3,000 British cars—highest figure since June, 1951.

BILLINGS BORN IN "WINDSWEPT"

Further light was cast this week on the birthplace of John Billings, head of Forest Industrial Relations. The prominent representative of the lumber industry employers of B.C. is a native of Sidney. Recently The Review ran a brief story on his connection with this district.

This week Mrs. John of John Road, Sidney, received a letter from her brother, Des Lophthien in Fresno, Calif. Mr. Lophthien explains that Mr. Billings was born in the house on Third St., now owned by Mrs. W. Smart. The home, "Windswept", was built by Mr. Billings' father, says Mr. Lophthien.

TEEN TALK

(Contributed)

The Teen Town Council feels that it is not getting the fullest support from many members. This conclusion was drawn from the fact that two general meetings were held, and in each case only a small minority of members attended. The council feels that at least half of the members should be able to turn out to a meeting which concerns T. T.'s interests. If the council cannot get better support from T. T. members, Teen-Town will have to close.

Up to now the council has been carrying on the full responsibilities of keeping Teen-Town on its feet. The steady decline of interest among the members and the bad turnout at the socials, have discouraged the council members. They feel that their efforts are in vain.

The council, in a desperate attempt to keep Teen-Town functioning, is calling another general Town meeting on Wednesday, July 23, at the St. Andrew's Parish Hall, at 7:30 p.m. We will base our final conclusion on the results of this meeting.

We know that you have enjoyed our socials in the past, but you are losing interest in them. We will welcome your suggestions to better Teen-Town. Don't let your adult advisors, Jim Elliott and Mike Peddie, down!

We are no different from other Teen-agers, so the council thinks we can develop our Teen-Town as well or even better than other Teen-Towns. If they can do it, so can we.

Let us show our appreciation to our leaders by having a record turnout of members at this meeting. We would like to get more council members if at all possible, but to do this we have to have 21 voters, so it's up to you! As we have said before in this column we had hoped to have other activities, but as it is, due to lack of interest in the club, this has been impossible. We hope to have enough voters to get a sports' committee organized at this meeting, on Wed., July 23. The decision lies with you. Take an interest in your Teen-Town! Make it a success!

Miss Marilyn Bellamy left by plane Saturday morning for Lac St. Denis, Quebec, where she will take a two-weeks training course with the R.C.A.F. Reserve.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Emmett of Mannville, Alberta, are spending the summer with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Foster, Newman Road.

The Saanich P.T.A. held their last meeting for the summer at the Saanich School recently, when the election of officers took place. Those returned to office were Mrs. J. Looy, president; Mrs. Martin, vice-president; Mrs. N. Foster, secretary; Miss Drozdak, publication convener. New officers are: Mrs. R. Bompas, social; Mr. Chornlesky, treasurer; Mrs. A. Howe, program; Mrs. S. Fisher, publicity. After the regular business the pupils of Grade 1-3 assisted by their teacher, Miss Drozdak, entertained the parents present by drill, dialogue and musical selections. The P.T.A. regret that there will be no swimming classes this season owing to the lack of an instructor. More new members are needed to make the fall activities successful and it is hoped that as many parents as possible will turn out for the first fall meeting. The P.T.A. will again have a concession at the fall fair. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Egg Market

Following is the weekly egg and poultry market report:

While prices remained unchanged, this market continues quite firm. Receipts were down three per cent and, despite forest shut down, sales generally are active and storage withdrawals and Prairie point shipments to the coast have increased. New Pullet crop lay is up in volume.

Poultry market is fairly active, with better sales on Broilers and cut-up stock. Prices steady.

Daily radio reports on the Olympic Games at Helsinki will be broadcast for Canadians by Thom Benson, CBC International Service Representative in Toronto, who has gone to Finland with the Canadian contingent of 125 picked athletes.

As a commentator he played an important role in the CBC's coverage of the Royal Tour last year and more recently he prepared and presented a Sunday-night feature program about the Chalk River atomic energy plant.

His reports from Helsinki will begin on Saturday, July 19, at 4.30 p.m. on the CBC Trans-Canada network. After that he will be heard Sundays, July 20, 27 and August 3, at 3.00 p.m., and weekdays, July 21 to 25 and July 28 to August 1 at 4.45 p.m. and Saturdays, July 26 and August 2 at 2.45 p.m.

Federal Marketing
Act Is Upheld
By Highest Court

Once and for all the highest Court of Appeal in Canada has established the legality of the Federal Marketing Act known as "Bill 82" and has also upheld the right of the Federal Government, under the Act, to delegate powers to provincial producer marketing boards to follow the marketing of their products into the inter-provincial and export field.

The legality of these powers was challenged in a recent decision of the P.E.I. Supreme Court, which rejected the right of the Federal Government to exercise such powers. The P.E.I. case, which arose out of the efforts of potato producers to set up a provincial potato marketing scheme under their provincial act, with extra-provincial powers, under the Federal Act, originated in a challenge made by a private potato dealer in the island province.

The appeal on the legal questions involved was taken to the Supreme Court of Canada, now the last Court of Appeal for Canadians. In this appeal, the P.E.I. potato marketing board was joined by the Canadian Federation of Agriculture. The B.C. Government, at the request of the B.C. Federation of Agriculture, also presented a brief on the producers' behalf.

All nine Justices of the Supreme Court of Canada at Ottawa were unanimous in declaring, in the judgment handed down June 30, that the Federal Marketing Act as passed in 1949 was entirely within the jurisdiction of the Dominion of Canada. They were also unanimous in the decision that the Federal Government had the legal right to delegate marketing powers in the inter-provincial and export field to the provincial marketing board.

BEAR RUG TO BRENTWOOD

There's bears in them there hills.

Miss Betty Cox, formerly of Sidney and now teaching in Montney, B.C., went bear-hunting recently. She returned from the hunt with a 500-pound black bear.

The former Sidney girl writing to her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Thomas, of Brentwood, recently, described her hunt.

A dead horse had been found beneath a bridge in the vicinity of the northern township. The presence of the corpse had attracted a number of bears. Her neighbor elected to set out and hunt the animals. Women do not usually hunt there, says Betty, but she was keen to try her skill, arming herself with a 30.30 rifle.

In the early hours of the morning she was directed to remain with the truck while her neighbor went looking for what might be around. Dissatisfied with sitting still Betty left the vehicle and set out into the bush.

Rude Awakening

The morning was sunny and the huntress fell asleep. Shortly afterwards she was roused by the horn of the truck. She started toward the vehicle and was startled to see a bear. She promptly followed it and lost it. It was followed by two more. Betty aimed at the larger and shot it through the heart.

"I felt like brute," she said, when it cried like a baby. She felt more enthusiastic when it proved to be a 500-pounder. The skin will be prepared and sent to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas as a souvenir.

Poultry Judges Named By P.N.E.

L. D. Sublett, Longview, Washington, and H. Reid, Langley, B.C., will judge turkeys and poultry; J. Duffus, Keewatin, Ont., will judge the pigeon classes; Burt Searl, Spokane, Washington, will handle the rabbit section and W. G. Coward, Los Angeles, cage birds, it is announced by Thomas Somerville, chairman of the Poultry and Pet Stock Show of the annual Pacific National Exhibition, Vancouver, B.C., August 20 to September 1, inclusive.

An innovation at this year's poultry show, largest in western Canada and the Pacific Northwest, is the provision of outdoor accommodation for waterfowl. This provides additional room for the annually-increasing record entry list in all divisions of the show.

Entries in all sections of the P.N.E. poultry show close August 13. Egg-laying contests and other features will again mark the show program. Information as to classes, entry forms may be secured by writing to the P.N.E., Exhibition Park, Vancouver 6, B.C., Canada.

OUR FRIENDLY NEIGHBORS

WE must confess that we were a little shaken by a news report from Victoria last week. It concerned the present rate of exchange between U.S. and Canadian currency which is causing some qualms to heads of business houses catering to American tourists.

The head of the British Columbia liquor control board was quoted as saying that Americans would not be charged exchange on purchases in liquor stores but that Canadians preferring United States currency would be charged exchange.

The board official is further reported to have stated that liquor vendors would be expected to decide which customers were Americans and which were Canadians by their "manner, dress and speech". This was the ruling which startled us out of our usual editorial calm.

Now we have always had every respect for the employees of government liquor stores. They appear to be earnest and conscientious gentlemen, anxious to serve their employer well and at the same time provide good service to the thirsty public. But we feel that they would have to be supermen to ascertain accurately and quickly whether a liquor purchaser is a Canadian or an American by his "manner, dress and speech".

If a liquor store visitor were dressed in the uniform of the U.S. army, the vendor would no doubt conclude he was an American and charge no exchange. If a swarthy lady appeared in a grass skirt, the safe conclusion might be that she was an American citizen from Honolulu and again be declared exempt. But if the customer was normally dressed, was normal in manner, normal in speech and boasted the name of Jones, we feel that the decision might be a much more difficult one.

Our sympathy is extended to employees of liquor stores in the difficult decisions which face them. Learned judges on different Canadian benches, often assisted by reams of evidence, have frequently taken much longer to decide the exact question of Canadian and American nationality than is expected of the drink dispensers.

SIDNEY IS GROWING

THE community of Sidney is growing. Its growth is not spectacular but it is very steady and sane. It hasn't the growing pains of some larger communities but its population is steadily on the increase nevertheless.

It is gratifying to note that new business houses are springing up along Beacon Avenue. They are needed for there is not a vacant business location in the area.

Not so very long ago a dentist started practice here. It is not surprising that he is a very busy man. Another medical practitioner is now starting to practise here. These professional men are needed as a community grows.

One major addition to an existing Sidney church has just been completed and construction of two other imposing churches is now nearing completion. Sidney's future is bright. Early incorporation of a village here will make the prospect even brighter.

A BOUNTY IS NEEDED

MANY poultry raisers of this district are firmly of the opinion that the provincial government should place a bounty on the lowly raccoon, more commonly known in western Canada as a coon.

Reports indicate that the depredations of coons are increasing at an alarming rate each year. Heavy losses are reported by poultrymen this year, and there seems to be no direction in which they can look for aid. The land owner has the right to shoot the predators on his own property but he cannot intrude on his neighbors' land for this purpose.

The humble coon is a native of this part of the world. He is harmless to human beings but it is his great fondness for a plump hen or a young turkey which makes him a costly neighbor.

Cougars also are a menace to poultry and livestock on Vancouver Island. The government has very properly arranged to pay a bounty on these animals. These cash payments have had a decided effect on reducing the depredations of cougars. The same principle would hold good for coons. The bounty need be only a fraction of that paid for cougars but the numbers of coons would immediately start to decline.

Early consideration should be given to inaugurating a bounty on these little animals.

... Letters To The Editor ...

ARE GRATEFUL

Editor, Review.
Sir:
We should like to convey, through the medium of your newspaper, our heartfelt thanks to Art Gardner and his Sidney Volunteer Fire Brigade, for their prompt and efficient assistance at the fire of the "Donna Marie". Also to J. Howard Harmon, Townner Park, for the use of his power boat in order that the fire hose could be taken closer to the burning craft. It is entirely due to their efforts that enough salvage was made, that will allow for a re-building of the boat.

To all those good people, known and unknown, who in one way or another assisted at the fire, we are most deeply grateful. Mere words just cannot convey the depth of our gratitude. God bless them all.

TRAPPED ANIMALS

Editor, Review.
Sir:
Those of your readers who deplore the suffering of fur-bearers in the abominable steel trap at present in use, will doubtless be relieved to know that the prospect of a humane trap improves. This is due to the noble efforts of a group of people in Toronto who started the first Association for the Protection of Fur-bearing Animals (A.P.F.A.), and the equally noble efforts of a similar group in Vancouver, B.C. who carry on the work of the branch association. No one makes money from the organization, and there has been, and still is, a great amount of hard work and sacrifice of time and money for these unselfish people, many of whom are earning their own living and giving their spare time to the cause of these unfortunate animals. The work of these groups would be made much easier if a larger proportion of the general public were interested. Much literature has been sent out but the response is slow. Many trappers are in sympathy with the aims of this association, and would welcome a humane trap.

The suffering endured in the steel trap has been likened to that endured in crucifixion. For the benefit of those who would like to assist in this good work, the writer appends the addresses of both societies. Information will be sent on enquiry: A.P.F.A. for Protection of Fur-bearing Animals, 26 Spadina Road, Toronto 4, Ont.

Reflections From the Past

20 YEARS AGO

Over 100 ratepayers attended the annual meeting of the Sidney School District on Saturday evening. J. Duff was secretary and J. J. White was elected chairman. R. B. Bret-hour was elected a trustee for three years to take the place of A. S. Ward-render, whose term had expired.

The same evening saw the annual meeting of the board of trustees of the North Saanich school. Representation of taxpayers was small. C. E. Toomer was re-elected trustee and W. H. Lowe was returned to his office of auditor.

The beautiful lych-gate recently erected by the Gulf Islands branch of the Canadian Legion at the entrance to the church grounds on Mayne Island was dedicated on Tuesday by the Rev. Barton. Rev. R. D. Porter assisted in the ceremony. A large number of guests from the Gulf Islands and North Saanich attended the dedication.

Following is a list of promotions and awards at the Deep Cove school: honor rolls, proficiency, Willie Johnson; deportment, Dora Beattie; punctuality, John Holten, Betty Lamrich in ozone, even when its glowing, stove was radiating warmth in endless waves. The result was that you could stand up straight and drip rinsing water into the bath while enjoyably permitting the hot stove to help your towel in drying you off.

Unfortunately, as mentioned, there was an exception to this enjoyment. It occurred when, dropping the towel, I bent over to pick it up. Since I was facing away from the stove, since there must have been a pronounced bulge behind me at what could roughly be called the right-angle of the bend, and since wet flesh burns faster than dry, I let out a yell that could have been heard on Mount Sutil.

Little inconvenience resulted, I am glad to report, because there was little sitting down at Mrs. Patience's—except at meals. Then I used two cushions. Nanette New, the post-master's wife, commemorated the event later by mailing us an unsigned verse:

He keeps Mrs. Patience in fits,
He burned himself just where he sits.
Don't ask how he did it,
I think that he skidded.

When trying to wash other bits.

PLEASANT HIKES
Every day Steph and I would make hiking expeditions along one or other of Galiano's lovely roads. Our first expedition had to be to the Burrill Brothers for two reasons: One was that there were so many stories told about them. The other was that the Bluffs could be climbed on the way as part of the four-mile walk. There has long been movement inspired by the Galiano Improvement Association to induce the Government to make a National Park of the area in which the Bluffs are included. The idea is attractive because from the crest of the Bluffs it is possible to see as far as Victoria where Mount Tolmie's rise is visible on a clear day.

Sheep range on the rounded top of the Bluffs amid stately oaks and firs. The wild flowers are glorious here in Spring. The slope down to the eddying waters of Active Pass is precipitous. Below is Georgeson Bay. Across on the Mayne Island side is an Indian village. Further along towards Victoria are North and South Pender Islands, Salt Spring and Saturna Islands; and, on the American side of the International Line, the San Juan Islands. From this high point freighters and passenger vessels look like toys as they pass to and from Vancouver and the open Pacific.

Looping down on the trail from the Bluffs to rejoin the road to the Burrills', we found ourselves again on one of those characteristic island arteries which are part trail and part road. It was carpeted with leaves and trees met overhead in some places. There were muddy ruts, fallen trees and many dips and turns. But on the whole it was good walking and its essence for us was fragrance and charm.

It was in this vicinity that we met Commander Anderson in tweed knickerbockers with a pack on his back for supplies. Like ourselves, he was on his way to the Burrills'. He was vigorous, enthusiastic and full of ideas; not exactly the kind of ideas which one might have expected from a retired officer of the British navy. Rightly or wrongly, one thinks of the so-called silent navy type as conservative. The gallant Commander was neither silent nor conservative. His mind was as wide open as a barn door on a breezy day. Keeping up with him was stimulating exercise. At the end of the trail he introduced us first to Commander Finnis, D.S.O., also retired from the Royal Navy in which he served at Ottawa and Victoria, and then, when the trail ended at the rocky shore of Active Pass, he took us to the store and introduced us to the Burrill Brothers.

Pralick, $720.

Clinton Chaton, 12, of West Saanich, was successful in the rescue of the infant son of Henry Hall when the boy fell into the water at Brentwood Beach on Thursday evening. Neither suffered ill effects from the incident. Clinton dived into the water and swam with the youngster to the wharf.

The Review's Book Review

"Eisenhower—The Man and The Symbol", by John Gunther; Harper, 169 pp., $2.95.

The significance of this book has lost its international appeal at the same time as it has gained importance in its own country.

As president of the United States, General Dwight Eisenhower would be an international figure. As candidate he is an unknown factor.

During his long service in Europe with the armed forces Eisenhower undoubtedly ranked among the most prominent men in world history to day. His recent resignation to permit of his seeking the presidency of his country has withdrawn him somewhat from the outside world.

At the present time it is probable that few men outside America know what the current campaigns and arguments signify. Almost every country, adherent or opponent, knows what "Ike's" job in Europe was.

Gunther sees Eisenhower as a "non-military" soldier. Although a professional soldier all his life, Eisenhower is essentially civilian minded states the writer. He offers a wide selection of incidents and anecdotes to support his statement. The essential feature of Ike's popularity in Europe, and elsewhere, is his belief in peace. He is hailed in Europe, says the writer, as the general who is going to prevent war, not make a war.

There is no doubt that of all candidates for the presidential office in the United States, none could equal Eisenhower in his popularity abroad. No American, soldier or statesman, has equalled the position until recently held by the general of the army.

It is due to this office of Eisenhower's as much as his present candidacy, that this book becomes a prominent feature of recent publications. Undoubtedly in the event of his successful campaign there will be other and more extensive volumes to follow. Few could be of more appeal outside his native land.—F.G.R.

under Dr. William Newton. In summer, 35 are employed on the experimental farm.

"Much of Victoria city's milk and fruit come from the farms of Saanich. The Peninsula is rightfully called the city's milk pail, fruit basket and vegetable garden. Saanich's strawberries are said to be the finest in North America. Melons ripen quickly in the hot sun, tomatoes grow red and huge in Saanich fields. Grapes grow well there, too.

"Sidney, the metropolis of Saanich, serves nearly 5,000 people. Its chief domestic issue these days is whether or not to incorporate as a village. Sidney has a wide main street that leads to the docks, is connected by a ferry service with Anacortes, in the State of Washington. Recently Sidney voted for beer-by-the-glass, as a result now has a new $200,000 hotel.

It has some attractive homes by the shore, many wharves from which the sport fishermen set out, a nice hotel called Brenta Lodge and ferry connections with Mill Bay, on the opposite side of Saanich Inlet. There are many lovely sandy beaches along Saanich's shoreline—Cordova Bay and Cadboro Bay on the east, Brentwood Bay, Deep Cove (there's a beer parlor in The Chalet) and Patricia Bay on the west. "Impaired" Drivers

(Ottawa Journal)

Between the sober driver and the obviously intoxicated driver is a middle stage from which come all those persons who are paying fines of $75 and $100 for driving while their ability to manage an automobile is "impaired" by the consumption of liquor.

This is a comparatively new offence, under the law, intended to catch and punish the border-line cases, and the need for it seems to be demonstrated by the number of persons who ignore that wise admonition: "If you drink, don't drive; if you drive, don't drink."

The fact is that to propel and guide a motor vehicle in modern traffic conditions, and without undue risk to human life, is a full-time job in the sense that it requires the concentration and skill of a driver who is both sober and sane. It is

Park, with its picnic tables under the trees. Many rich people have big homes in Saanich, once summer residences, but now they're lived in all the year.

"Saanich has just about everything, including good lively municipal politics. It's just about the perfect place for comfortable living. It has city streets, country lanes, beaches, lakes, mountains, forests and farms. You can live any way you like in Saanich. You can hide away in isolation or join community enterprises.

"That's why so many prairie and eastern Canadian folk, buying Saanich's bulbs in Autumn, holly from Saanich at Christmas and Saanich's daffodils in March, want to live there. They see in Saanich a continual rainbow-at-night—a rainbow of peace and contentment."

no job for a person whose judgment has been blurred by a drink too many.

From these many prosecutions of "impaired" drivers the word surely must be getting around that it is expensive and humiliating to be caught in charge of a car in such circumstances. It is but a step, moreover, from "impaired" to "drunk"—and the compulsory jail term is still on the statute books.

YOU WHAT YOUR Adventist
Neighbors
BELIEVE

Seventh-day Adventists may be a little different, all right; but, everything considered, they are just ordinary folks.

They do not exhibit long faces, wear funny clothes, or bother anybody. They may participate in the community chorus or the Red Cross drive or other civic activities. Just like your other neighbors.

But still, they are "different." They don't smoke; but they won't preach at you if you do. They don't drink. They go to church faithfully (but on Saturday instead of Sunday) and they try to observe the Sabbath even when they aren't in church.

They operate 4,164 schools, 160 hospitals and clinics, 50 publishing houses and are established in 228 countries.

What is it that makes your Adventist neighbors the way they are? Well, in the first place, they put a great deal of emphasis on hope for the future. They believe the end of the world is near and feel an urgent obligation to prepare themselves and others for it. They believe that a vital part of their message is "the hour of his judgment is come" (Revelation 14:7), and that this message must go to all the world to prepare a people for the soon return of Christ, the Saviour.

Your Seventh-day Adventist friends are quite orthodox. They believe the Bible from Genesis to Revelation. They adhere to observance of the Ten Commandments, having no part in present-day attempts to abolish them as a rule of right and the standard of God's judgment.

They also believe that the law condemns man completely, because its sole purpose is to point out sin—and we all have sinned. Our only hope of ever receiving life eternal is in accepting the unmerited favor of Christ. We are then under His grace. But the law is still there and will condemn us as often as we sin.

Adventists believe that the seventh day of the week, now called Saturday, was consecrated by God, according to the fourth commandment, at creation (Exodus 20:11) and has been observed by many faithful ones ever since, and they observe it today.

But they certainly do not believe that, because of this, they have an exclusive title to salvation. They believe that many an honest soul with an imperfect knowledge of truth will be saved by the grace of Jesus. But so far from being an unimportant quibble, they believe the matter of Sabbath observance is fully as important as any other commandment. The Sabbath is called God's "sign." No other day would do, any more than another flag would do for patriotic citizens!

They will show you that the substitution of Sunday for the Sabbath crept into the church long after the death of Christ, and was admittedly sanctioned by the church of later centuries and thus passed along to Protestantism today.

Seventh-day Adventists feel that they have a divine mission today in helping to "restore the old paths"—pointing mankind again to the requirements of God's law, and the grace of Jesus that saves us from its penalty.

They feel the urgency of world conditions permits no frivolous conduct, but demands a sober, rational outlook, brightened by the hope of an eternity in a new and perfect world.

This is No. 12 of a series, telling briefly of the beliefs and hopes of 750,000 of your Seventh-day Adventist neighbors and friends.

MORE MACHINERY
ON U.K. FARMS

The results of the January, 1952, U.K. farm machinery census undertaken by the Ministry of Agriculture and Fisheries show substantial additions to mechanical equipment since January, 1950. Increases are particularly marked in the newer labour-saving machines, especially those associated with root and grain harvesting. Vehicles, machines and implements used with horses show further declines. The estimated number of agricultural tractors shows an increase of 24,000 (9 per cent) over the 1950 census; stationary engines (gasoline, oil and electric) by more than 46,000; tractor trailers by 42,000 (nearly 20 per cent). Compared with the 1950 census there were over 11,000 (17 per cent) more milking machines of all types in use; number of combined seed and fertilizer drills increased by nearly 5,000 (20 per cent); combined harvesters increased by over 60 per cent to 16,470 and complete potato harvesters and complete sugar beet harvesters increased by 350 and 610 respectively.

NEW DEVICE FOR GETTING
HEAT FROM SOIL

A device by which central heating for the home and similar low-grade heat for other purposes can be provided from the soil was one of a number of ingenious exhibits on view at the Royal Technical College, Glasgow, recently. Investigation into the heat pump has been carried out by the British Electrical and Allied Industries Research Association. The principle of the heat pump is somewhat similar to that of a refrigerator, working in reverse: a small amount of electrical energy is used to cool the soil by means of chilled pipes. The heat thus extracted from the soil is boosted to a high temperature by the action of a compressor, producing a supply of hot water for only a fraction of the electrical energy that would be used by an immersion heater.

HEATING OF CHURCH IS GIVEN STUDY

St. Mark's Chancel Guild met last Friday at the home of Mrs. Cecil Springford, St. Mary's Lake, with the president, Mrs. F. C. Turner, in the chair and 14 members present. The treasurer's report showed a balance of $78.20.

The chief business discussed was ways and means of obtaining better heating for the church before cold weather sets in, and with this in view the following committee was appointed to look into the matter: Archdeacon G. H. Holmes, Lieut. Col. J. H. Carvosso, O. Leigh-Spencer, Warren Hastings, L. S. Nicholson, W. H. Bradley.

It was decided to purchase a rubber mat for the bottom cement step at the entrance to the church, coconut matting, it was suggested, to cover the floor of the porch and by this means reduce the amount of dirt being carried on to the new carpet. It was also planned to get galvanized flower containers for window sills and a cross to hold flowers for the decoration of the pulpit.

Under the convenship of Mrs. Cecil Springford the members will take over the catering for tea at the Annual Parish Fete on July 30, at Harbour House, Ganges.

It was moved by Mrs. G. B. Young that all hangings, frontals, etc., now replaced by others in St. Mark's, be Plans were made for the holding of a home cooking and produce stall on Saturday, July 26, at Mount Bros. Store with Mrs. T. F. Ayres, Mrs. A. E. Marcotte, Mrs. E. Patchett and Mrs. L. G. Shewfelt in charge. Arrangements were also made for a whist drive and social evening at St. Edward's Church Hall, on Friday, August 1.

Following adjournment refreshments were served by Mrs. W. James and Mrs. J. H. M. Lamb.

The next meeting will take place on the evening of September 9.

Very few large sawmills today have waste wood burners in operation. The wood refuse goes to the sulphate pulp mills.

Given to Rev. Arthur Holmes for his new church at Uclulet.

Notes From Saanichton Experimental Station

With the advent of hot weather, well wonder how the young plants and the season for transferring can possibly survive when moved at winter greens coinciding, some may such a time. It is preferable, of

The sardonic grin

Centuries ago a favorite poison of those with homicidal intent was the drug "herba sardonica." Before death, herba sardonica induced gaiety and laughter and occasional spasmodic contraction of the facial muscles which simulated a grin. Thus was originated the expression "a sardonic grin." Today the sale of dangerous drugs is regulated by law. Do not be offended when refused the right to buy poisonous medicine. It is for your protection. Only a physician is qualified to prescribe dangerous drugs. We are qualified to dispense them.

course, where possible, to avoid transferring during hot weather, but often there is no option, particularly when the weather man predicts "no change." With plants which are stocky and slowly grown, and with proper care, however, success in establishing plants is possible in even our warmest weather.

Soak the nursery bed thoroughly just before transplanting, so that the plants may be easily lifted with a minimum of injury to the delicate root system. Where possible do the transplanting in the cool of the evening. Protect the roots from the sun by means of moist burlap, or keep the plants sitting in water until they are set out. Trim off about a third of the leaf area and any long, straggly roots. Open a hole for the plant and fill it with water, next setting the plant in the hole and replacing the soil. The plant will settle and firm itself as the excess water drains away. Planting in this way ensures that the air is excluded from the roots, and prevents the plant from drying out quickly.

A popular alternative is to "puddle in" the plants. This consisted of dipping the roots of the plants into a pail of thick mud thick enough to adhere closely. This also serves to check drying out of the roots.

No Need To Worry
Florists and gardeners need have no fear should city fathers ever decide to add flouride to the city water to help reduce decay of children's teeth that the chemical will be toxic and cause trouble with plants. Such is the assurance given one and all in a reliable florist trade journal which brands as false the propaganda of the opponents of flouridation, and such statements to the effect that the addition of flouride to the water causes flowers, trees, shrubs, lawns, etc., to wither and die. Actually only one part per million of flouride is added to the flouridation process. In one American state for example, there are 33 communities where there is more than one part per million contained in the water supply as an "impurity" and no trouble has been encountered in these areas.

An Experiment
An experiment is being conducted to determine the effect of Krilium Soil Conditioner on plant growth and on the physical properties of the soil. The material was applied in the spring of 1952 at three rates, 2,000 lbs. per acre, 1,000 lbs. per acre, 400 lbs. per acre and is being compared to a manure treatment applied at 10 tons per acre. Spring oats, carrots and corn are being grown as indicator crops. All crops are growing vigorously at the present time but no treatment effects are apparent for any of the crops. Yields will be recorded and carrot shape evaluated. Winter wheat will be grown on the area to determine whether soil drainage has been improved through the use of Krilium. It should be stated that the soil is clay in nature, bakes badly, and is difficult to work. The area was in sod for several years previous to conducting this experiment and the soil structure was undoubtedly improved due to this treatment. A sequence of crops will be grown to determine whether the Krilium treated plots remain in better physical condition than the manured plots after a period of cropping.

"WAVE ENERGY" UNIT FOR BOATS

A new power unit for boats, using neither sail nor fuel, is to be tested in Britain this summer. The device, described as a "wave energy unit", will take its energy from the sea. The invention of Donald V. Hotchkiss, a naval architect of Dorset, the unit consists of wooden fins, braced with steel, fitted fore and aft below the waterline about the level of the keel. The waves are said to move the fins up and down and cause a "slip stream."
